THE CHURCH IN CHINA.

in the North China and Shantung Mission, whose objects are evangelical, medical, and educational, was held on 30th ult. at the Charterhouse by permission of the Master, the Rev. G. Stanley Davies. The Bishop of Gloucester, the president of the council of the Mission in London, presided, and continue to guarantee $300 each to the diocese of North China and Shantung. That decision had been arrived at only after much consideration, as the mission was in great need of money. Nevertheless, it was felt by the Council that they could not agree to grant only £600, as had been suggested in the fortieth year of Bishop Scott's work in China. The grant was only possible, however, owing to the generosity of certain persons who were prepared to make themselves responsible. Thu Lev. F. Jones (Shantung,) speaking after seven year's absence in China, said that country was rapidly changing, and there was need for still more arduous work. In the present crisis of affairs in the new Republic the Church of England had not shown itself to be in sestrong a position as it ought to be.

GUESS WHAT HAPPENED!

He met her in a darkened hall. Baid he: " I bring thee roses To show I love you all in all." Said she: " How cold your nose is."

It is stated that there are sixty-four licensed motor-cars running in Tientein, and that this number will be greatly in-crossed in 1913.

THE APPOINTMENT OF SIR FRANCIS PIGGOTT.

Attitude of British Government.

In the House of Commons on October 31, Col. Sir E. H. Carlile (C. St. Albans), asked the Foreign Secretary whether Sir John Jordan, on behalf of the British Government, made any representations to the appointment of Sir Francis Piggott. The course was Channel Rocks (Port) the late Chief Justice of Hongkong, at Rock (Port) Channel Rocks legal adviser to the Chinese Government; (Starboard) Cust Rock Buoy (Port) a lise, what these representations were; and exceptionally close finish between G. McLorn (representing Iroland) and T. S. D. Wade (England). These two competitors walked practically as "partners" for the whole of the sixteen mile course, and were level within thirty yards of the winning post. Everybody then anticipated a "dead heat," but the English representative, being the fresher of the two, put on a last spurt and thus secured the individual honours. In 1909, it is interesting to note. Wade finished third in the walk while the following year he was second, beaten by McLorn, strange to say. On the latter occasion, again strange to say, the English team was victorious, but yesterday the tables were turned and for the first time in the history of the competition Ireland claimed the leam victory. Since the competition was inaugurated in 1904, the team wins have been as follows :--

1905French 1906English 1907French 1908German 1909English 1910 English

There was no competition in 1911. The Irish were second in the 1909 and 1910 competitions. Altogether the English have four wins to their credit, the French two,

Glorious weather prevailed for the walk, and consequently there was a good turnout of spectators to witness the start, atnine o'clock in the morning, from the junction of Bubbling Well and Mohawk

Nearly fifty competitors had entered and at least 40 of them came up to scratch, from where, promptly to time, they were started upon their ardnous tramp by Dr E. V. Hobbs. Seven teams were in the tunning, representing Austria-Hungary, Australia, England, France, Ireland, Portugal and Japan, with numerous individual walkers in addition.

ALTERING THE MAP OF EUROPE. The triumphant advance of the Bulgurian and Servian armies has producate profound impression throughout Europe. Before the war the Great Powers notified both Turkey and the Allies that the perritorial status que must be adhered to. Ten days have brought a wonderful change in opinion and it is recognized already that the overwhelming success of the Allies has emated an entirely new situation. Vienna is frankly possimistic with regard to the possibility of saving Ottoman rule in Europe, and one prominent journal in that City declares there is no longer an Ottoman Eimpire in Europe" and that the only question is whether Turkey will retain Constantinople or not. Europe realises that the Balkan States have come of age and that a new era of political development has

The programme of the Balkan States is an ambition one. Bulgaria, Sarvia, Greece and Montenegro are to have their borders enlarged, while Albania and Macedonia are to be created into Principalities. The whole will form a federation of States for purposes of customs and excise, and other Imperial matters. AUTHORISED CAPITAL ... Yen 48,000,000.00 The solution of the Balkan problem car-30,000,000.00 ries with it the peace of Europe, and this much is certain that if the Allies eventually succeed they are not going to hand back to the Turks countries which have been twice liberated from Ottoman

The occupation of Uskub by the Servians is a remarkable event in itself. Every Serb knows that at Uskub, on Easter Sunday, 1346, Stephen Dushan, the great here of Servian history, was crowned Emperor, and the event is commemorated by a well known picture at Belgrade. Naturally, the recapture of the capital of the mediaeval Servian Empire after centuries of Moslem rule has croated an outburst of patriotic enthusiasm. It is worth noting that the Servian artillery of French manufacture has proved infinitely superior to the Krupp Deposits received for fixed periods at guns employed by the Turks.

The war looks like a return to distant days when "Kings with their armies did fice and were discomfitted," or "divided the spoil" as the case may be. No. lewer than four Kings are personally engaged in warlike operations, to say nothing of Crown Princes and royal sons. King Nicholas (Montenegro) has seen fighting before, as also the King of £1,500,000 Greece. King Peter (Servia) saw service with the Foreign Legion that fought on the side of France in 1870, and King Ferdinand (Bulgaria) is now getting his baptism of fire. LANCABRIRE AND THE LOLN. sermus effect on the corroll want in Lancashira and already mills are working on short time. The masters, howover, are directing attention to the possibilities of development of trade with China, and apparently there is a good prospect of inducing China to take what, under ordinary conditions, would have been sold to the Balkan States. The authority of a leading merchant is worth quoting because he definitely ranges Lancashire on the side of the Crisp Loan. This gentleman says :- ' Our salvation lies in the development of the Chinese market. The recent revolution made a great falling off in the demand for Lancashire cettons, but now that Mr. Crisp's £10,000,000 loan is helping to smooth matters down we are looking forward very hopefully to selling in Chins all the material which we cannot sell in the Balkans at present. Lancashire manufactures were not in favour of what is called the Six-Power Loan, because they knew that this would be an encouragement to Japan to compete with Lancashire for the control of the Chinese cotton trade. We were naturally on the side of Mr. Crisp for an independent China, uncontrolled by Japan or Germany, which will be a better buyer of Lancashire goods than otherwise. Our agents are out at present surveying the new ground and we hope to have good news from them very soon." CHINESE LOAN STORY. A few days ago the Foreign Office supplied a list of the financial houses comprising four of the Six-Power Chinese Loan Group, and a surprising thing about the list is that two English houses were discovered to be included with the Russian Group. They are the Eastern Bank. Ltd., which has Lord Balfour of Burleigh as chairman, and the well-known firm of Henry Schrooder and Co. The explanation how these British institutions found their way into the Bussian list makes an interesting story. Last March MAILS and TELEGRAPHIC REMIT- these two houses so, it is said, together, with the Banque Sine-Belge, the Banque Pusso-Aviatique, and a French group, LETTERS OF CREDIT and DRAFTS. granted on all the principal cities in the entered into a contract with the Clinese Government for a loan of ten millions, THE BANK'S CIRCULAR LETTERS one million of which was to be payable. CREDIT are available all over the in advance. The Foreign Office was askad for its support, and sent a letter on the strength of which the loan contractors, understood they were to go forward with PURCHASE and SALE of Stocks and the lesue. The contract was then signed and the million in advance duly paid TRAVELLERS CHECKS sold and over. The Foreign Office was now approached to recognise the lose, but this was refused on the ground that the No. 9, Queen's Road Central. Foreign Office was committed to the Hongkong and Shanghai Benk. Accordingly the loan did not go for,

Nervous Exhaustion, Neuralgia, .Sleeplessness—

The fact that Mrs. Taylor did not give up her work, and did not go for a change, is clear proof Phosserine pt evented the nervous breakdown which her doctor said was certain unless she gave up her duties. Mrs. Taylor is not the sort who gives up easily, although she was worn to a standstill with neurasthenia and sleeplessness, and realising that neither change nor rest was possible, she concluded the only certain way to keep going was to supplement her vitality with Phosferine. The actual benefit Mrs. Taylor experienced within a few hours exceeded even the relief she know would result from Phosferine, every nerve centre in her avstern began to resum. its activity, thus promoting her recovery with daily increasing rapidity Now that all traces of nervous disorders are expelled, and she sleep sounder and eats better than ever, Mrs. Taylor urges other exhauster workers not to give up, but employ Phosferine to generate a new supply of nerve force and feel for themselves how capable, vivacious, and happynatured this new energy makes everyone.

Completely done with.

Mrs. K. E. Taylor, 369. Goldhawk Road, Chiswick, writes:-"The benefit I have received from Phosferine is almost incredible. I had been suffering for months from Neurasthenia, everything was a burden to me, head pains and body pains were constant, I could not eat, neither could I sleep. I felt utterly ill and wearied out, and after struggling on for some time, I was told by my doctor there was nothing for it but to give up my situation or to go away for a change. For many reasons, either would have been my last wish. I remembered Phosferine had done me so much good 14 years ago in a case of neuralgia and weakness following maternity, and so I started your remedy again. I consider it has again. worked miracles for me. I can cat and sleep well, and am able to perform my duties, which comprise not only household affairs, but brain work, with ease and pleasure."-April 24, 1912.

sian element in the international combination, these two English firms became members of the Russian group. It is stated that they would certainly have preferred to be associated with an English group but no option was left them. On behalf of the Honglong and Shanghai Bank it is pointed out that this in stitution interested itself in Chinese loans when nobody else would look at them. and it recognises the impossibility of continuing its monopoly, against which a number of English houses have pro-topic of the Chinese Loans will be dealt with in a Blue Book in the near future. MASTERPIECE OF CHINESE ART. A remarkable work on Eastern Art which will find a place on the shelves of Asiatic libraries has just been published by Messrs. Heinemann. The title is " Epochs of Chinese and Japanese Art: An Outline History of East Asiatic Design," and the author, Ernest F. Fenollosa. The two volumes are priced 36/- tested to the Foreign Office. The vexed

which will militate against a big sale The work is the most complete survey of Chinese and Japanese art that has yet been published in this country, and its history is worthy of rote. The two volumes represent three years' devoted labour by Mrs. Fenolloss upon a rough pencil draft by her late husband, who was formerly Professor of Philosophy in the Imperial I pi wanted Arts to the Japanese Government. That Mrs. Fencliosa had a difficult task is readily appreciated when it is stated that the original manuscript was little more than a rough draft of the finished work which the Professor intended to make. Many historical dates, the names of temples, Samkut and Chinese names, and even the full names of artists were often left a blank. Various English, American and Japanese authorities gave generous assistance to Mrs. Fenollosa to whom belongs the chief credit for a task which may fairly be called monumental.

The late Professor was of mixed Spanish and American parentage. His father was a professional musician who left Spain in boyhood, settled in America and married one of his pupils. Their son had a distinguished university career and obtained his Tokio appointment in 1878 The actual writing of the present work was not begun until the summer of 1906, and 'In one magnificent effort the pencil draft was completed in three months. The Professor was then in New York and he was unwilling to revise the manuscript without another visit to Japan. His wishes were not realised for he died suddenly in London in 1908, and, as may be recollected, his ashes were removed by the Japanese Government from Highgate to a permanent home in the temple grounds of Milders, overlooking Omi.

While other writers have done splendid work in special branches of Chinese and Japanese art, this is the first time that the general reader has been provided with a history of the subject as a whole. The Professor classifies the subject not according to the technique of industries, but by creative periods; he considers art in relation to environing culture, and he treats of Chinese and Japanese art as a to recognise any barrier between pictorial and decorative art. Historically the work is easy to follow. He regards Chinese art as first Pacific, second Mesopotamia, and third India Buddhist. Its obscure begin. nings be dates somewhere about 3000 B.C. After two earlier faint waves of force it rises to its third and stronger creative effort with the Han Dynasty (200 B.C.-221A.D.), and then, after an interval, to its culmination under the Tang Dynasty in the eighth century and hardly lower crest under the Sung Dynasty in the eleventh and twelfth centuris. An interesting part of the book for the general reader is that dealing with the great Sung school of the poetical interpretations of nature in landscape. One must not run away with the idea that the work is addressed exclusively to scholars. On the contrary it is written for all " those who would try to form a clear conception of the essential humanity single sesthetic movement. He refuses

of these peoples." THE ARMOUN MING. Under the heading "Chaos at the Ad miralty." The "Pull Mall Gazette" states that matters are not going well with Mr. Churchill's administration of the Navy. The completion of the existing shipbuilding programmes is gettingfurther and further into arrears. While the Government dockyards are completing their work well up to time, the ships building in the private yards are being delayed beyond all reason. For instance early in 1913, is not expected to be ready Doves, -Pan Kau until the spring of 1914, and other ships | Eggs, Hen-Kai Tan ... will be much behind time. The Aus tralia and New Zealand, ordered in 1909, are also unlikely to be ready this year. It is stated that the trouble arises, not from labour disputes, or any other un avoidable cause, but from the jealousie of the Armour Ring, and people are ask. Musk Deer,-Wong Keng ing whether the time has not come when in the national interest, a determined attempt should be made to break down their monopoly.

In another direction, also, Mr. Churchill is disappointing the expectations of those who hoped to find in him a strong and fearless administrator. The men the Fleet have legitimate claims for increase of pay. For sixty years they have enjoyed but little advance, while wages in other walks of life have gone up and the cost of living has increased. Last session Mr. Churchill definitely promised that he would propose an increase in the autumn, and now the "Pall Mall Gazette " learns with grave concern that he is unable to get his colleagues in the Cabinet to consent to this increase. It will be a permanent charge, they say. and they are not prepared to sanction it. Mr. Lloyd Goorge gets his additional money to pacify the doctors, but not so Mr. Churchill for the sailors.

THE BRITISH ARCHIVES.

THE Royal commission on British Public Records has set an example it in Chancery-lane and various publication inspected archives in Holland, Beled an exhaustive report which has issued as a Blue-book. The eport gives an interesting account of past treatment of official and historical documents. In this, as in many other matters, our ancestors muddled through, and the muddle grew more tangled as the years rolled on, until by the early part of the last century it had become a scandal The custody of public and private records was part of that paraphernalia of dingy offices with musty guardians and extortionate fees which attracted the satirical notice of Dickens. The documents were scattered in all sorts of public offices and other repositories, to the vexation of historians, the confusion of litigants, and the profit of the odd train of camp followers who hung about the great army of the law. Then, characteristically, Parliament cut the knot with a single trenchant stroke of legislation. It passed an Act in 1838 whereby the Master of on board. Commander Beckwith, R.N., the Rolls, a relic himself of the imposed a fine of $15. ancient Court of the Exchequer, was made the custodian of all legal records. He can if he pleases issue warrant claiming the custody of any document in the possession of a department of State or local authority however confidential or important for purposes of current consultation may be. There is Osaka has been made a port of call for no check on his discretion and no guarantee of a continuity of policy. The commissioners do not find that the staff is as well equipped as it departments of the Civil Service. But those who have charge of the materials of our history ought, themselves to be historical students with some expert have trained a staff of specialists like the British Museum, It does not seem to have done so; with the result that the Office is still very inadequately acquainted with its own stores of material, and has no such command over them as the archivists of some Continental countries. It was left for an American scholar only the other day to rummage about among the sacks and bales of the Rolls Building, submitted to the Tutub at Canton for and to unearth documents throwing approval. interesting light upon Shakespeare's personal history which had escaped the notice of our scholars and were quite unknown to their custodians. The commissioners themselves made nore important discovery. They found a huge series of "Port Books' and "Coast Bonds," the records of shipping and customs for three centuries and a-half, embodying material of the utmost importance for the elucidation of our economic and social history. They were, stacked on the stone floor of the turrets, pressed down by heavy slates, exposed to the effects of vermin and the weather. The of activity and businesslike method Office regarded them as wastepaper which might be usefully followed by and would probably have had the vestigators. Within two years of volumes destroyed, as it has destroyed its appointment, it has found time much else of historical value. Moreover, there should be a committee of historians and scholars to advise as to the publication and calendaring of the historical documents. If these recommendations are adopted additional importance and interest will be imparted to the work of the Record Office, which even with its present limitations has performed services for which all students of our antiquities, our constitution, and our legal and political institutions must be grateful.

The Mobilisation Reports.

YReuter's Service to the China Mail.) LONDON, Nov. 25.

The sensational reports of mobilisa tion appearing in the Austro-German Pross have failed to disturb the equanimity of Europe owing to the conciliatory attitude of all parties, including Servia, which is apparently preparing to gracefully yield upon the yexed "question of a port in the Adriatic. The fact that the British Third Battle Squadron has returned to Malta le likewise regarded as indicating a relaxation of the tension.

Nevertheless, despite a generally optimistic feeling, a slight sound of sabre rattling may be discerned in an Inspired telegram in the Koelnische Zeitung, declaring that it is now expected that Russia will not delay to speak for pacification, and that the Servian frenzy will yield to good sense. The telegram adds "The Bulgarians are already sobered and desire to end the strain is spreading among them."

The Reischspost, which is the organ of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, likewise makes a significant statement to the effect that the Archduke, during his visit to Berlin, gained the convic tion that the Triple Alliance was firmer than ever, and that the three Powers would march in a servied line in regard to Eastern affairs.

SERVIA'S DEMANDS.

The Servian Premier, M. Pasics, in the course of an important statement to The Times outlining Servia's demands, declares that it is essential that Servin should possess the coast line from Durazzo to Alessio. This const line should be joined to Old Bervin by a strip of territory bounded on the south by a line from Durazzo to Lake Ochrida, and on the north by A line from Aleseio to Djakova. Servia was quite prepared to make every sacrifice to obtain this minimum.

The Times, in a leading article, regrets this statement as being unlikely to assist in the efforts for peace, as it is much more extensive than the original suggestion of a seaport.

TURBS SURRENDERING IN THOUSANDS.

LATER,

Reuter's Belgrade correspondent telegraphs that the Turks who have surrendered since Monastir now number ten thousand, and are daily ingreating.

REASONS FOR THE MOBILISATION.

There is nothing tangible to warrant to-day's pessimism except undoubted military preparations by Austria and Russia in view of possible if not probable contingencies. It is explained that both the Austrian and Russian mobilisation is a slow process, and it therefore becomes necessary to begin even precautionary preparations long before they are required. There is no indication of a break away from the European concert. On the contrary, friendly conversations continue.

A HEROIC ENGLISH LADY NURSE.

A telegram from Sofia states that the workers at San Stefano cholera hospital include Miss Alt, an aged English lady, formerly trained as a nurse and sent out by Lady Dufferin to establish a nursing system amongs Turkish women. Miss Alt fearlessly enters infected dwellings and attends to patients single-handed, supplying them with comforts at her own

AUSTRIAN WARSHIPS' MYSTERIOUS MOVEMENTS.

Some interest has been aroused by the sudden departure of the Austrian squadron from Smyrna, particularly is conjunction with the hurried sailing of the Austrian cruiser from Constantinople. "It is stated, however, at Vienna that the vessels are returning transactions between the parties during home owing to it now being unneceseary to incur the cost of keeping and $2,700 had been paid in four instalthem in the Levant. On the other hand there has been considerable reduction of the passenger service between Warsaw and the Austrian frontier which is attributed in Vienna to the Russian mobilisation, though W. B. Hind, solictor, for the defendant. the Russians explain that it is due to the laying of new rails.

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOUR

With regard to the statement made yesterday in the "Frankfurter Zeitung," the "inspired " Viena papers declare that the rumours of German mediation are unfounded, and that mediation is only possible when the maximum demands are reducible. Negotiations have been raised, but Austria has "already defined the reducible minimum...

"I am more than thankful for all the I received from the use of Cuticura Ointment. In my long stage of ecsema I really thought at one time I was not going to get out of it, as had tried so many things; but all no good until I saw the Cuticurs Remedies advertised in the papers, so I made up my mind to try them. "I have been suffering for about twenty years and not days used to lich very badly. Scratching six-ponny piece and very scurfy. By using Cuticura Cintment twice daily, it caused them to scale over and dry off, then I used to wash the parts with Soap and water. Also my legs were swollen very much, but the Cuticura Cintment, etc., to all my friends." (Signed) William Devey, Wassell Grove, nr. Steurbridge, Worcester, Eng.,
